PROFILE

Hello, I am Denojan Seeking a challenging role in a forward-thinking tech company. My past experience includes leading a team to develop a web based application that most people use in this era, and Pioneered the use of angular framework that improved website's performance multiple time and along with backend technology of Asp.net and Mssql data base management system.

Creativity along with logic will be a solution for every challenges especially in the It industry that I really love working with.
